

The art of obedience:

level one: the lamb gives all to the opponent and does not spare their own life sacrificing all they have to turn the cheek beating upon beating the lamb learns by submitting and following the master discipline of the spirit first then mind then body (healing/faith)

level two: the cockatrice out smarts his opponents moves and strikes in weakness and uses fire to master his opponent obey him through fear and ability (fire/wisdom) level three: the lion rules his opponent by honor and masters his opponent with fear making it obey (possession/fear) level four: the owl obeys by warning his opponent of their state discouraging the enemy by their own faults in the darkness (prophecy/darkness with keen sight) level five: the worm uses its many hearts to think many things at once and is hidden from sight (hiding/focus of thought) level six: the gorilla is obedient to its tribe attacks with super strength and learns to adapt (adaptation/might) level seven: the angel causes the opponent to be given the message and thru love causes to plan the opponents defeat or victory based on the opponents decision (love/mercy)

The art of sacrifice

level seven: the man drinks of the living water and devotes himself eternally as a sacrifice to love with all he has using his knowledge to unlock a key to power thru asking God (casting lightning/blessed sword) level six: the turtle the turtle protects itself from its enemy by retreating into emptiness/darkness within sacrificing opposition and combat the bite is dangerous it is an example of peace and war when at peace protected and attacking with war then returning to peace protected (reflect/peace shield) level five: the ostrich the ostrich ignores its attackers and sacrifices his own emotions thus eliminating the fears within itself it hides its head in the sand to take away the fear that would otherwise overcome it and builds up will then attacks (blindness/running speed) level four: the mourning dove sacrifices by giving the message through song and then flying away escaping giving its repentance and then obeying by submitting to truth (raise the dead/levitation) level three: the bull the bull sacrifices its peace to the opponents behavior and uses anger to sacrifice its own self to protect others (berserk/break bone) level two:the beaver builds his temple sacrificing himself for the body(his home) he is clever in hiding and swimming underwater to control and guard his home it is a secret dwelling and he keeps the entrance a secret that no one may enter protecting it ruler of his home (cast out demons/binding)

level one:The goat ignores wisdom but conquers through holiness by his sacrifice of himself unhurt by thorns of the thistle the goat is filled with the foolishness of God and works his obedience by submitting to his opponent and are not hurt by the thorns they eat (life and death in the tongue/holy push)

